

Glen-Coa Gleanings

A fine group of young people, including a large truckload from near Sedgewick, (and some not so young) gathered on Thursday evening on Gulbraa's side of the lake for a Luther League social. All went well until the downpour of rain began. Very few of the original group defied the storm to remain and eat welshers and what have you at Gulbraa's house. Better luck next time Luther Leaguers.

The weather also put to rout the plans for a Sharon Sunday school picnic on Saturday afternoon. That event is scheduled to take place next Saturday afternoon, August 24, on Gulbraa's side of the lake. We hope most people will not be too busy yet with their harvest operations to take in the picnic.

Ila and Charlie Halvorsen of Alaska have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Halvorsen.

Pastor and Mrs. Stolee, Lois and Brian, were visitors to this district on Sunday.

Viking Luther League is presenting a return program at Sharon next Sunday evening, Aug. 25. A good turn-out is desired.

Mr. D. Likness was a visitor to Winter, Sask., last week when he attended the wedding of his niece.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Reitan spent a couple of days in the city the first of the week.

Visitors at the home of Mrs. E. R. Erickson were Mrs. H. Johnson, Carl, Margaret and Beatrice, of Kyle, Sask.

The Larson home has had visitors from the States.

Art Larson is home now and plans to help with the harvest we hear. Byrnie's two children, Jerry and Thelma, are also having a happy time on the farm now.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express most sincere thanks for the kind thoughtfulness of all our friends in Irma and district. The farewell gathering in honor of ourselves and the two boys was splendidly arranged and deeply appreciated. The purse from the community was most generous, and again may we say "Thanks a million." To one and all who helped in any way as well as for so many good wishes we thank you.

Most sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Carter,

Wedding Bells

SMITH-JONES

On the afternoon of Monday, August 19, the Irma United church was prettily decorated with white wedding bells and streamers and a host of summer flowers, when Edna Beatrice, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jones of Irma, became the bride of David Newton Smith, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. David Smith of Mannville.

Entering the church with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a gown of white lace fashioned on princess lines. The bodice had a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. Her veil was of fine, soft net terminating in a train and was fastened to her head with a gathered ruffle. She wore white slippers and white lace mittens and carried a bouquet of red roses. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace and pearl earrings, gifts of the groom.

Miss Edith Jones attended her sister as maid of honor and Miss Frances Bars was bridesmaid, the former in a fitted gown of blue taffeta trimmed with rucking, and the latter frocked in pink net and lace. Each wore long white net gloves and white slippers and carried bouquets of pink and white gladioli and had matching blossoms in their hair. In jewelry each wore a gold locket, a gift of the groom.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. W. Inglis. Mrs. Ray Locke played the wedding music. Mr. Jas. Smith of Red Deer, brother of the groom, was best man.

Mr. Lister Emmott and Mr. John Bars were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Jones wore a frock of navy and white pinstriped silk and had navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Mr. Smith had a dress of printed sand, crepe with matching accessories.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held to about 50 guests on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake and there was an abundance of summer flowers.

Latter the happy couple left for a honeymoon at Sylvan Lake and Banff. The bride's travelling costume was a gold and black ensemble with black accessories.

On their return the happy couple will make their home in Edmonton.

Shower for Bride-Elect

Some thirty friends and former school mates gathered over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mathews in honor of Miss Edna Jones. The afternoon was sunny and ideal for the shower. A pink decorated basket was carried in, heaped with gifts and these were presented to the bride elect by Mrs. Mathews. Before each gift was opened, the bride made a wish to the giver. This novel idea caused many a hearty laugh and much merriment.

A lovely assortment of gifts was then displayed to those present. A bridal cord was formed from the ribbons, and while the bride held one end, the other was passed along the line. Everyone anxiously waited to see, according to the superstition, who would get the end of the cord and be married next. A very dainty lunch was served following this. Everyone wished the bride much happiness as they departed.

TENNIS NEWS

After a lull or more than ten years, rackets are again swinging lustily and creaking bones cry out as points are won and lost. It is indeed invigorating to feel the spring of the strings under a hard driven ball and realize the satisfaction of a well-placed shot only to find your opponent has dropped the "impossible" return just over the net for the game and set.

Thrilling contests, many played at five in the morning, have gone into the history of our court and among those serving the balls of days gone by we find such names as Slim Hammond, Bob Brooks, Dr. Murray, Van Dyke, Smaltz, H. E. Jones, Dr. McGregor, Derman, Maguire, Allie Gamble, Roy White, Mrs. Selma, Sue Lemon, White, Mrs. McDowell, without counting those still in the district. The present club are hoping to revive the keen interest once displayed in the sport here. Such clean, healthy recreation is fun and skill for young and old, in fact King Gustav V of Sweden still plays an excellent game at 88 years of age.

A standing invitation is extended to everyone, especially those who think tennis is a sissy's game to come down and try a set or two, free any morning before breakfast or after supper. Membership has been set at the very low rate of 50c for the balance of the season. Fees may be paid to Bob Smith, Clarence Lovig, or Art Knudson. A dance will be sponsored in the near future to raise funds to cover present expenses. Your patronage will be appreciated.

A Pattern For Peace

FOR MANY YEARS the undefended border between Canada and the United States has stood as an example to the world of the manner in which nations can live peacefully side by side if both have the will to do so. Over a hundred years have passed since there has been any grave dispute between these two countries and as time passes the possibility of serious trouble arising becomes increasingly remote. During the war a joint plan of defense was set up for the protection of this part of the world against possible enemy attack, and had such an attack come there would have been complete co-operation in combating it, no matter which nation was most vitally concerned. Had Western Europe been similarly united before 1939, the history of the last seven years might have been quite different.

Is A Help To World Court

Mr. John E. Read of Ottawa, one of the fifteen judges of the new World Court of the United Nations, and formerly Canadian representative on the International Joint Commission, who returned from the Hague a short time ago, commented on this matter in a recent press interview. He stated that arbitration precedents set by the United States and Canada during their long history as peaceful neighbors are one of the most important contributions to the working of the new world court. He added that the court also benefitted from the experience of the International Joint Commission of Canada and the United States which he termed "probably the most successful international relationship which has been set up in the world." It is gratifying to know that such a precedent has been set here, and it is to be hoped that it may contribute to the working out of a plan for permanent world peace.

An Example Set For Others

What has been accomplished here should not be impossible for all nations. It must be acknowledged that there are certain extremely favorable factors involved in the relationship between the United States and Canada. There is a common language in both countries and the predominating racial strains in both countries are similar. There are, however, memories of the American Revolution and the War of 1812, both of which are not so far in the past as to be completely forgotten. Yet from these, very little, if any, bitterness has remained. At this time, when the world is facing a new era in which it is clear that many practices and institutions of the past must be discarded, it would be encouraging if the "but it is an obvious one, offering a chance to travel and work in interesting places such as summer hotels, hospitals, large stores, restaurants and factories."

Keeping Normal

Is Best Way To Get Along In These Restless Times

In the face of all warnings about the atomic threat to our existing civilization, about the threat to the survival of the human race, people retain their pre-war curiosity about the extinct child of the Ice Ages, the Mayans. It is only fair to keep such things in mind when a person is tempted to ask in this atopic age, when mankind may be standing on the verge of destruction, how can there be long nylon gowns before the shops, how can there be such public interest in new beach costumes, how can there be such enormous crowds at the race tracks, how can a bouncing new baseball civilization be rearing its head in Mexico?

Higher interests than nylons and pari-mutuels and baseball persist in the face of the atomic peril. Scientific expeditions persist. Scientific expeditions persist. Scientific expeditions persist. National-wide campaigns for the conquest of disease persist. In other words, it is not true that humanity does nothing but dance on the edge of the abyss, as we are accustomed to say after historic catastrophes, like the one from which we are still emerging. A great many people do other things than dance on the edge of the abyss. They work, study, explore, invent, dedicate themselves to high aims and great causes which take for granted the survival of the human race and the persistence of civilization.

Sometimes the thought occurs that the greater the vengeance with which the atomic threat is publicized and the nearer to the edge of destruction humanity is depicted, the more inclined most people will be to turn to their normal occupations. A threat may become so dire as to produce the feeling that there is nothing to be done about it and the best thing is to attend to the daily job.—New York Times.

Offers Big Chance

Household Economics Course Pays Way To Highest Paid Fields

Most people picture a dietitian sitting behind a desk trying to decide whether today's menu should feature French fried or parsley potatoes. But according to Margaret E. Anderson, head dietitian for Toronto's Robert Simpson Co., Ltd., this is far from the truth. "Being a dietitian is not a glamor job," she emphasizes, "but it is an absorbing one, offering a chance to travel and work in interesting places such as summer hotels, hospitals, large stores, restaurants and factories."

An ideal field for women, a dietitian always is well paid and if she is exceptional, can make $10,000 a year.

She works hard for her money, and, although a career girl, is beset with the problems of an ordinary housewife. She too worries about rationing, price ceilings and latest orders from the Wartime Prices and Control Board in addition to her special worries about help shortage and the difficulties in obtaining heavy kitchen equipment.

Entry into this field comes after a degree in household economics—which may be a four or five year course depending on the university. Then the dietitian still has an extra six months to a year training, either studying special diets in a hospital or normal diets in a commercial course.

Miss Anderson is responsible for the operation of some eight restaurants and food services. In the store in addition to special catering for weddings, teas, banquets and small dinners.

In the arduous training, Miss Anderson points out, but it is one job a dietitian who marries can carry on in her home. Her training cannot fail to produce a better homemaker.

In the first two years of its life, the little blue rooster is white.

BECOMING MODERN

Even Ancient Tower Of London Is Conforming With Times

Even dusty history cannot keep progress outside the old grey walls of the Tower of London and today the world's grimmest and most famous fortress is beginning to conform with the times.

People of morbid inclination who visited the Tower before the war heard blood-curdling commentaries delivered with ghouliah jollity by old and whiskered warders dressed as yeomen of the guard.

And then the 'cadman took 'old of this 'ere chopper and brought it down with a rare, old wallop. And the 'ed popped off like a bloomin' cork."

Adults shivered while children gaped and, the old warder collected a handful of pennies in return for the lurid detail supplied.

Today these whimsical anecdotes are gone from the Tower and in their stead is a new type of yeoman—sounding like a friendly, well-college-trained voice and a fund of history and archaeology at their finger-tips.

Their language still is colorful and is peppered with up-to-date slang. School children listen open-mouthed to hair-raising tales of last-minute escapes, of bloody executions, and of the various historical trends that led up to them.

There now are 50 yeomen warders in the Tower. They have free quarters, their own club and bowling green, and a small pension which, in line with progress, is to be increased soon. Their job is to guide tourists and police the Tower.

The Tower's biggest attraction, the Crown Jewels, is expected back next August and with them the keeper of the crown jewels. Meanwhile, the white Tower's gleaming armories remains the biggest "draw."

There are "ghosts," of course, and the star performer, according to the wardens, is still—and will always be—Ann Boleyn.

Non-Stirring Paint

May Be Available Within A Few Years

Paints which do not require stirring before use may be available to householders within a few years, as the result of research underway by British scientists.

Reporting the development, Canadian Paint & Varnish Magazine says that "the elements making this new paint possible are said to be recovered from the sludge of crude oil after gasoline, paraffin and valuable chemicals have been extracted."

In the meantime, the advice of paint manufacturers to users of their products continues to be "Stir the paint until it is thoroughly mixed before using."

Everything New

May Be Desirable But It Means Sacrificing Cherished Things

It is an idea that grips the imagination, this plan of the British to take $76,000,000 and build an entire new town. Some 50,000 persons would make up the population. They would be starting life over, where everything was new and clean. The beginning would be parks, of course, then community centres, nurseries, modern medical and health facilities, schools, churches, good housing, industrial and business life conveniently arranged.

Some of these towns at least would be built in the outskirts of London, not more than thirty miles away. They would reduce congestion in London and, at the same time, attempt to revive some of the spirit and mode of life of the English village of the seventeenth and eighteenth century. This is an aim of the Minister of Health, Aneurin Bevan, who recalls that in that day people of different stations in life lived together in the same streets.

A curious phenomenon of human nature is revealed here. When ever we begin to think of doing something new we invariably think of once of something old that we cherish.

E. V. Knox once tried to put in words the charm of the English village. "It was set in its hollow under the hill," he wrote of one of these "so grouped about its church, had so many timbered cottages, so perfect a green, so fine progress came along. The town ate up the village, or as Knox put it, "a herd of wild bungalows had trampled it down; it had been sagged by an arterial road, and devastated by petrol-pumps. In the ruins, like a pelican in a wilderness, stood a roadhouse with a swimming pool."—New York Times.

Stolen During The War, Were Found Near Manchester

LONDON—Jewels and art treasures valued at $150,000 stolen during the war from a Yorkshire estate were found strewn along a highway between Sheffield and Manchester. The treasure, owned by the late Louis Cartier, famous jeweller, was hidden in the garage of Ingine Hall, Sotrage Place, Yorkshire, in 1939. The theft was discovered last November although, presumably, it had occurred several months earlier.

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

SYMPTOMS OF CANCER

Here are some of the facts the public should know: Cancer kills more than 33 Canadians every day and that not only the old are the victims. It will surprise many to know that more children from 5 to 19 years of age die each year from cancer than from the following combined: scarlet fever, infantile paralysis, typhoid, peritonitis, dysentery, diarrhoea. It is perhaps a little better known that one out of eight people over 40 years of age die of cancer.

Ignorance or fear based on ignorance has always been one of the biggest obstacles in the path of progress. As it has been with cancer. While some of the greatest minds in the world are working on research problems which may determine a way to prevent it, millions of people through fear, ignorance, superstition, are falling to go to competent medical authorities until the disease has passed beyond the stage where it can be cured. Many are falling into the hands of quacks and Gecceers. It is important that the public should know that surgery, X-rays and radium are the only approved, treatments for cancer.

The public must be taught to know the possible symptoms and then not to be afraid of going to a doctor, but to go with hope, knowing that early detection will bring a cure. The following are the signs which may mean cancer:

1. DO NOT NEGLECT any mass, lump, swelling or hardness on the face, neck, lip, tongue, in the mouth, in the breast or elsewhere in the body.
2. An ulcer, sore or cracked lip which does not heal within a month demands attention.
3. Any unnatural bleeding is a sign.
4. Attend to a wart or mole that starts to increase rapidly.
5. Hoarseness which persists past the duration of a common cold may be serious.
6. Difficulty in swallowing your food or indigestion which develops after the age of 40 requires investigation and probably X-ray examination.
7. DO NOT WAIT for pain. Pain is a late symptom.

Telephones For North

Connecting Medium Will Give Isolated Settlements Contact With "Outside"

Many isolated settlements in the vast northwest which not so long ago knew only the dog team and canoe and airplane as their connecting medium with the "outside," will get telephone connections through a transaction completed between Northwest Air Command and Alberta government telephones for extension of service recently established with the Peace River country.

Some of the points to benefit by the new telephone line include Wagner and Little Smoky in Alberta; Dawson Creek, Poncho Coupe, Fort St. John, Fort Nelson and other repeater stations in British Columbia and Watson Lake and Whitehorse in the Yukon.

Position Could Be Filled

He was undernourished, meek, diffident, subdued and had applied for a job as night-watchman.

"Yes, said the manager, eyeing him dubiously, 'but the fact is we want someone who is restless and uneasy, especially at night; someone who thinks the worst of everybody and whose suspicions are seldom if ever allayed; someone who sleeps with one eye open always; someone with remarkable hearing, who starts at the slightest sound; someone who is always listening, thinking there are bad characters about. A meek, mild watchman would be of no use to us. We want a large aggressive, intrepid and dangerous person, a good shot, bad-tempered and revengeful, too. The kind of person, in fact, who, when roused, is a find incarnate."

"I'll send the wife around," said the little man.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

LUKE-WARM TO HOT

By ERNEST MILES

Copyright
Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

USUALLY his behavior was calm and patient, but now Luke Cousins began toidget and fume as he sat waiting on the bench in the reception room of the Tilson Specialty Company.

"Luke-warm," is what his wife, Janie, sometimes called him, and many times she had said, "Why don't you get hot under the collar sometimes and stand up for your rights?" Well, this was one time he felt like taking her advice.

He was placed in this spot because for more than twelve years he had worked for Belmont's as a salesman and having done a good job was considered one of their best men. It came as a real shock when the Miller people absorbed his old firm and, in spite of his record, notified him his services were being dispensed with along with those of most of his old associates.

That had been three months ago and Luke had not yet been able to find a job. Then this Mr. Tilson had telephoned and made a definite appointment for him to call. The advertisement Luke had answered seemed like the very job he could handle, so, promptly at eleven o'clock as arranged, he had presented himself and taken a seat. Luke had high hopes for an interview which would assure him of being busy again in the work he loved.

Now it was nearing twelve and he was still there, waiting, but resenting more and more the run-around he seemed to be getting. Only the thought of Janie and the baby at home, waiting for some real good news, prevented him from leaving there in a huff.

He snapped out of it when his thoughts were interrupted by the switch-board girl. "Mr. Tilson is very sorry but he is still tied up in a conference. He wants you to be sure and telephone him later this afternoon and he will make a new appointment."

Luke couldn't even answer for he was now choking mad. As he swung out of the office he was not only hot under the collar but in a blaze from head to foot.

Out in the hall he noticed the next door was marked "Private." This would be a good chance to face this guy Tilson and tell him just what he thought of him. Luke barged right into an office where a man was sitting alone, with two beautiful toy dolls on the desk in front of him. These were absorbing his attention.

This made Luke madder than before and he lashed right out. "I'm the fellow you just kept waiting for an hour and then were too busy to—" "But—" the startled man broke in.

"But nothing," raged Luke, "if you're too busy playing with a couple of dolls to keep an appointment you made with me, I can tell you I wouldn't want a job with you even if you offered me the best sales position in the world."

Before the amazed man could say a word, Luke dashed out. Then, like a pricked balloon, his anger died as he realized what he had done. What would he turn now?

He felt weak and leaned against the wall for support. As he was moping his brow he was startled by a voice, "Hey, young fellow, come back here and tell me what this is all about."

Sheepishly, Luke followed the man back into the office, slammering. "All right, Mr. Tilson, I was upset after I'd waited so long, so I guess I made a fool of myself. I'm very sorry."

The man studied him, then, smiling, said, "First, I'm not Tilson. My name is Sam Peters, President of the Peters Toy Company. Tilson's office is next door. Now, tell me what made you charge in like a wild steer."

Luke's face was flaming red now as he told his story.

"I would have been hopping mad," said Mr. Peters. "Are you going to telephone Tilson and make that new appointment?"

Luke began to see red again. "No sir, I certainly won't telephone him. I'll just keep on looking and I'll find a job in spite of him."

"That's the old fighting spirit I like. Now let's have a little chat. What sales experience have you had?"

Mr. Peters listened intently and, with a broad grin, said, "Well, young man, I wouldn't be surprised if you don't have to look any further for that job."

"You mean—"

"That's exactly what I mean. Our post-war plans call for a big expansion program. How would you like the chance of being Assistant Salesmanager of the Peters Toy Company?"

"Oh, boy," grinned Luke, hardly able to remain seated, "that is just the kind of a break I'm looking for. Just tell me when I can start."

"Well, you can come and have lunch with me now and we'll arrange the details, that is, if you can spare the time."

"That suits me fine, Mr. Peters. But may I telephone the good news to Janie first, and tell her what a not number her Luke-warm husband has turned out to be?"

"Sure go ahead and tell her you're the hottest thing in town."

Pert Young Barrister Found Out Who His Witness Was

There has been some exchange of reminiscence in one of our local ports (writes a correspondent) about the names of well-remembered fishing boats. The skipper of one of them, called into the witness-box of a court of law, was pretty asked by a young barrister: "What are you?" "What am I?" retorted the old seadog in a voice that shook the court. "In the matter of the Queen of England, that's what I am, young fellow!"—Manchester Guardian.

Old Volume Has Been Brought To Light In London

LONDON—An early 17th century edition of nine quarto plays by Shakespeare, which, as far as known, is the only copy in existence in Britain, was shown to connoisseurs at a private view at a London bookshop. Dated 1600, 1608 or 1619, according to indistinct red letters the volume is regarded as a "pirate edition," printed by a man who is not known to have had any copyright.

HOUSING SHORTAGE STALLS WINNIPEG TRAFFIC—Traffic halted for six hours on this Winnipeg street while a large house was moved from its foundation and shifted to another site, a block away. At 11 a.m. the house was lifted from its original foundation and at 5 p.m. it was situated on a new lot. The move helped solve another Winnipeg housing problem.

EVERY EXTRA TURN HAS A MEANING OF ITS OWN!

The average person shifts position thirty-five times during a night's sleep. This is quite normal and healthy.

But how many times do you twist and turn? It is rather difficult to find out—one cannot exactly ask some member of the household to stay up and count! Yet that would tell the story of how normally you sleep.

Restful sleep is not a matter of how tired you are, what kind of a bed you sleep on, which side you sleep on—it is more likely to depend on the state of your nerves.

A common cause of frayed nerves—which result in disturbed sleep—is the caffeine in tea and coffee. If you find caffeine is bothering you—why not switch to Postum? It contains no stimulants of any kind. It has a full-bodied flavor—all its own. Form the Postum habit! Make it right in the cup with boiling water or hot milk. Costs less than a cent a serving.

Stranger In The House

By Paul Nafe In The Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal

The Truth In Stranger Than Fiction Department and the How to Make the World Better Division will have to argue their respective claims for this incident.

She lives alone in a neat little cottage at the edge of the city—a good walk from the nearest bus.

One morning she was accosted by a heavy-set man who didn't mince any words about it—he wanted something to eat. She was in a hurry to catch her bus, but in a burst of impetuous good will she said:

"I live in that little white cottage off to itself over there. In the refrigerator I have what's left of a pork roast and sweet potatoes. Here's the key . . . you'll find the place in pretty much of a mess—but be sure to help yourself. Then, please just lock up and put the key under the mat on the front porch."

All the way downtown, she was dogged by the thought that she was the prize fool of fools. What would she find when she returned?

Sure enough, there was the key—right where she had asked that it be left, under the mat. But when she opened the door and switched on the lights, she could scarcely believe her eyes: the house had been thoroughly swept and dusted, and everything was in its clean place. Even the windows had been washed. Yes, as expected, there was less food in the refrigerator—but the interior was gleaming with its fresh wash job.

On top in plain view was a roughly written note: "Dear Miss," it began, "you probably will never know what you have done for me. I was poorer in a few days ago, and the going hasn't been too easy. But I've got what it takes now. Thanks a million." It was signed merely "Your Friend."

The English word guest stems from hostis, a Latin word meaning enemy.

What a rain we had last week! The new culvert at the corner of the hardware proved its worth, but still all the little sloughs and some basements in Irma rose rapidly.

There's a rumor afoot that the city fathers met together on Friday night and framed an ad for The Times which ran something like this: "Wanted, for immediate possession, by the entire Village of Irma, one good commodious ark. Must be seaworthy." Too bad it cleared up. We would have loved to have run that ad. And it might have helped solve the housing problem too.

A representative of the Calgary Power Co. came up from Wainwright on Monday to repair two broken electric light poles that had been damaged in Irma last week.

One accident occurred during the wind storm of Thursday night and a rain covered windshield was in large part the cause. A settlement to cover loss was immediately offered.

Saturday night's breakage was caused by a hit and run truck driver against whom evidence has been secured.

Mrs. R. S. Munn of Calgary, was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Targett during the past week.

Mrs. M. Chase and daughter Marjorie were week-end visitors to the city and were guests of Mrs. Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bolger and family have arrived in Irma from Battleford, Sask. Mr. Bolger is the new agent for the Searle Grain Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McFarland and family are holidaying here in Irma with Mr. and Mrs. Ross McFarland.

Keep in mind, Sunday, Sept. 1, as this is the date set for the annual Flower Service at the Irma United church. This service will be at the usual hour for public worship. Come and bring your friends and any flowers you may have to contribute.

Mr. and Mrs. Erling Larson and Gordon were supper guests Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen.

Mrs. Geo. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. Layton Bars have returned from two month's vacation in the East. Mr. Bars visited Mrs. Ivan Currie's relatives in Boston. While there, we understand he went stepping out to a show, unescorted and unescorting, and found his way back to his stopping place without assistance.

Mrs. Victor Larson was a week-end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mathews.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen and family were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ramsay.

Miss Evelyn McRoberts was in Irma visiting on Monday for the wedding of Miss Edna Jones. Other out-of-towners to attend the wedding were Miss Edith McRoberts, Miss Francis Bars, Edith Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Griffith and Mrs. and Miss Graham.

Miss Edith Jones arrived home from a short course at the U. of A. She has accepted a school in Calgary and will be leaving in two weeks to take over her duties there.
